Description

According to your wishes and needs we design and manufacture COR-TEN® steel fences, cladding, bbq firepits, planters, lawn edges and many more other products. COR-TEN® is high strength, low alloy weldable structural steel with exceptional weathering resistance. The chemical composition of the steel allows for the creation of a layer of rust that coats a building without altering the mechanical characteristics of the steel. This rust layer, not only protects steel products against the elements but also delivers a unique finish that stops most people in their tracks.
